SO ORDERED:

Paul G. Gardephe, U.S.D.J.

Dated: Dec 20, 2012

Re: United States v. Gilberto Valle, 12 CR 847

Dear Judge Gardephe:

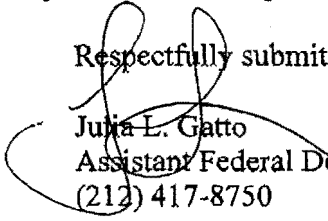

Defendant's pretrial motions are currently scheduled to be filed by tomorrow, December 21, 2012. We write to seek an adjournment until December 31, 2012.

There are two reasons for my request. First, the government still has not completed producing discovery and the defense wants to review all of the discovery before filing pre-trial motions. On November 19, 2012, the government represented that discovery would be complete by December 3, 2012. However, more than a month later we still are awaiting materials. Since the previous schedule was set based on the government's inaccurate timeline, we ask for an adjourned schedule.

Second, we anticipate that a bulk of our pretrial motions will relate to discovery disputes. The defense is trying to resolve these discovery disputes with the government before seeking the Court's intervention. The additional time will permit the parties time to discuss (and hopefully resolve) the issues. That that end, we have sent two letters to the government - a Brady request dated December 17, 2012 and a request for a bill of particulars dated December 19, 2012. We await the government's response.

For these reasons, we ask that the Court adjourn the current pretrial motion schedule.

Respectfully submitted,

Julia L. Gatto
